

The Philosopher's Stone & Law

¹ The concept of law is the most important of all concepts. Law is the condition of all life. Law is necessary to freedom, unity, development, to society, and to culture. The state is built through laws. At mankind's present stage of development, laws are so necessary that – if the state did not exist – it should have to be formed just for the sake of the laws. Education which does not inculcate the inevitability of law does not live up to its name. Only law prevents arbitrariness and chaos.

[...] Continue reading 3.11 The Individual and the Laws of THE INDIVIDUAL AND THE LAW OF FREEDOM & of THE INALIENABLE DIVINE FREEDOM COLLECTIVE & of 3 Esoteric Life View Translated from Swedish in the hylozoically direct style. Original books of essays are found on the laurency.com drop-down at on the top-left of page. HylozoicExcerpts