

consciousness aspect is the one to solve the problem of idiologies

¹The theological and philosophical idiologies waged an unceasing war against each other ever since, during the Renaissance, the treasures of Greek literature were uncovered. As scientific research advanced, also the idiologies pertaining to it started to wage war against both theology and philosophy. The social revolution introduced a new kind of political ideology and has brought about an aggravation of the conflict between political idiologies. Man gropes his way slowly forward, being ignorant of reality and the laws of life.

²In all this, the consciousness aspect has been considered very little or not at all, although it is the one to solve the problem of idiologies. All the categories of human thought have been taken from the matter aspect, and the fact that these categories always involve conflict has been disregarded. Only when the consciousness aspect becomes the essential one, will the other problems be solved by themselves....

[\[...\]](#) Continue reading, scroll to 7.1 Introduction

/ 7 CONSCIOUSNESS DEVELOPMENT /

Knowledge of Life Two Translated from Swedish in the hylozoically direct style. Original books of essays are found at laurency.com on the drop-down at the top-left of page.

hylozoicExcerpts