

in which process all the primordial atoms (monads) will have acquired actualized active consciousness and omniscience

²⁷Hypothesis: The cosmos is an eternally indestructible perpetuum mobile.

²⁸Truth: All manifested matter has once been formed out of primordial atoms and will some time return to the primordial atomic state, in which process all the primordial atoms (monads) will have acquired actualized active consciousness and omniscience in all the different worlds of the cosmos.

²⁹Hypothesis: Consciousness is a property of organic matter only.

³⁰Truth: All matter has either potential consciousness or some sort of actualized consciousness. Everything is simultaneously matter, motion, and consciousness. None of the three can exist without the other two.
