¹³Hypothesis: The visible physical world is the only world there is.

¹⁴Truth: The cosmos is made up of a series of interpenetrating worlds of different degrees of density.

¹⁵Hypothesis: There is no other matter than physical matter.

¹⁶Truth: There is a long, continuous series of successively higher states of aggregation that form a series of different worlds each one of which has its own kind of matter.

¹⁷Hypothesis: Physical matter consists of three states of aggregation: solid, liquid, and gaseous.

¹⁸Truth: Physical matter consists of seven different states of aggregation, four in addition to the three ones just mentioned: etheric, superetheric, subatomic, and atomic.
