evolution and . . .*

It is a law of evolution that all must receive help and all must help with everything that all need, and this in all kingdoms. Anyone who does not see and realize this counteracts evolution and commits treason against life, assisting those who are consciously working to turn the cosmos into chaos. They are similar to parasites in the human body that are working to destroy the home they have taken as their abode. They have forfeited their right of domicile. If in addition they spread infection, they are enemies of life, enemies of all men.
