

The more
...consciousness expand...
...vaster our knowledge...
the more laws we discover.

⁴ The number of laws appears unlimited. The more the boundaries of consciousness expand and the vaster our knowledge of reality becomes, the more laws we discover. And this gives us greater and greater confidence in the rationality of life. If laws were lacking, we would be victims of arbitrariness. If we lack knowledge of laws, we fall victims to fictions and superstition. Just as the knowledge of the laws of nature grants us power over nature, so the knowledge of the laws of life shows us how we can shape our lives.
