

historians of religions are utterly unable to assess the pertaining historical teachings

<sup>12</sup> “All wise people in all ages have been of the same religion” (esoterics). And this is the one true religion. It has nothing to do with any historic form of religion. They are all of them distortions of the one true religion.

<sup>13</sup> It must be asserted once and for all that Christianity (all its sects) is neither the teaching of Jeshu nor that of Christos, that Buddhism (in all its branches) is not the teaching of the Buddha. The historians of religions are utterly unable to assess the pertaining historical teachings and historical events.

[\[...\] Continue reading, scroll to](#)

4.1 Introduction / of 4 THEOLOGY

Translated from Swedish in the hylozoically direct style. Original books of essays are found on laurency.com, at top-left of page of the drop-down . HylozoicExcerpts