

law of harmony, ... restoration, ... stability ... causality

<sup>8</sup> The fundamental law, the law of dynamic primordial matter, the natural law proper from which all other laws can be derived and on which the immutability of all laws depends, has several names, for example: the law of balance, the law of harmony, the law of restoration, or the law of stability.

<sup>9</sup> The causal law, or the law of causality, says that if all conditions are present, then a certain course of events follows inevitably; that given causes have their bases in manifested forces; that the effect, or event, is a resultant of a great number of forces.

<sup>10</sup> The law of reaping, the law of sowing and reaping, is also a law of consciousness.
